FIVE ARE SEIZED IN LOTTERY RAIDS

Four Fined in Recorder's Court; One Bound Over on Criminal Charge.

A raid by city detectives yesterday afternoon on two clubs on Broad street resulted in the arrest of five men, of whom four were fined $27 each on lottery charges in recorder's court and the fifth bound over on $200 bond for lottery operations.

Four men were arrested by Detectives John Crankshaw and J. B. King at 12 1-2 North Broad street.

If you have any club or church affiliation, you are likely at any time to find yourself on a committee whose duty it is to plan the community or duty it is to plan the community or church supper. At first that may seem a bewildering assignment. A housewife accustomed to buying and preparing food for one family may be quite appalled by the task of feeding 50 or 100 persons.

Then, too, there are questions of expense, of means of cooking and serving to be considered. Usually the food must be kept hot and appetizing over a considerable period of time. It must be the kind everyone likes. Other problems bob up.

Here are some suggestions for main dishes to be served to groups, with dishes to be served to groups, with the amount and ways of preparing it

Meat Loaf Safe Choice.

A meat loaf is one of the "safest" choices you can make. Its advantages choices you can make. Its advantages are many. It is easy to prepare; it is a real economy dish, and last, but not least, it is a general favorite. It can be made in large quantities. It can be prepared ahead of time, and can, if necessary, be served cold. It fits well into any menu. There is no waste, and the servings can be apportioned to take care of a varied number, in case a larger crowd arrives portioned to take care of a varied number, in case a larger crowd arrives than you had planned for.

Meat Loaf for Fifty.

Fifteen pounds ground meat, 4 tablespoons sait, 4 cups bread crumbs, 1-4 pound onions—chopped, 4 greën peppers—chopped, 6 eggs, 1 quart milk.

The meat may be a combination of beef, pork and veal. Mix the salt, bread crumbs, onions and green perpers with the meat. Beat the eggs, add to the milk, combine with the meat

Another suggestion for a large group

New England Dinner for 100. Sixty pounds corned beef, 40 pounds cabbage, 10 pounds turnips, 10 pounds carrots, 5 pounds parsnips, 40 pounds

Wash corned beef well and place in a large kettle with 15 gallons of water. Bring to the boiling point, then simmer for 3 hours. Cut the cabbage simmer for 3 hours. Out the cabbage into eighths. Peel the vegetables and cut in quarters. Add all except the potatoes. Add the potatoes 30 minutes before serving time. When dohe, season with a little pepper and serve.

Chop Suey Hash for Fifty.

Here is a dish which perhaps has not been served so often as those mentioned above.

The off drove on a large baking pan and put in the oven until well rendered. Add onions and fry until half done. Add other ingredients and Hungarian Goulash for Fifty.

Hungarian goulash provides still another dish suitable for a group. Fifty may be served by the following recipe.

Twenty-four pounds lamb, 12 cups onions—cut small, 8 cups drippings, water, 4 tablespoons salt, paprika, flour, 12 lumps sugar, 6 quarts of potential test of the suitables. tatoes-quartered.

F. M. Scarlett, associate campaign manager for United States Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., said yesterday "the insinuation of Governor Talmadge that any of my clients have any political influence or control over me or have ever sought to execise any" is "just another of the Governor's unfounded statements."

Governor Talmadge, in a campaign speech at Macon, referred to Senator Russell's charges that the Governor Massell's charges that the Governor Hasskob and the du Ponts" and added the "assistant campaign manager for Richard B. Russell is attorney for the du Pont interests in Georgia."

Talmadge declared "if the Hercules Powder Company wants to give a $1,000 check I'm confident Frank Scarlett could put it over and Junior would accept it."

"This insinuation," Scarlett said in a statement, "takes its place in the same category with the Governor's statement that the CCC boys are bums and loafers and his subsequent denial of it although it appeared in his newspaper, The Statesman, over his own signature."

Scarlett charged the "insinuation" was "no doubt provoked by announcement of the commander of the Governor stuff and asserted "that's the reason that it over and grain the said his opponent voted for a "33 1-2 per cent sales tax" on food-stuff and asserted "that's the reason that commander of the Governor's campaign fund.

BACKGROUND The Spanish crisis was so dire two weeks ago that State Secretary Hull decided to take a vacation State Secretary Hull decided to take a vacation.
Recent developments have been so alarming that, upon the day the President made his announcement, Mr. Hull's office said the secretary planned to remain away another week, lolling in the beautiful hills of western Virginia. Likewise, modern communications methods keep the President just about as well informed in midocean, or at Hyde Park, as in the White House. Wired and wireless telephones are kept constantly open. In the Ethiopian crisis he made his major move, in the form of the arms embargo, from a battleship in the Pacific. Earlier, he made his historic bargo, from a battleship in the Pacific. Earlier, he made his historic statement, breaking up the unsatisfactory London economic conference, from a yacht in the Atlantic.

Observers closest to the diplomatic inside also agree that Undersecretary Phillips will probably handle any Spanish crisis no matter where Messrs. Roosevelt and Hull are. He has been handling it right along.

THREAT DIPLOMACY The rumors now current that the President has information indicating a general European crisis early in September, therefore, do not appear to be justified.

The way the lads at the helm size up the situation is this:

Mussolini might be madman enough to start a war, but they do not believe it. They would set the odds anywhere from 10 to 1 to 100 believe it. They would set the odds anywhere from 10 to 1 to 100 to 1 that he will not. The game he is playing is obvious to them. It is the same one he used against France in the Ethiopian crisis, the threatfear game to keep France quiet. That explains to them why he is always inspiring belligerent press dispatches from Rome.

While any situation like this in Europe is serious, it is not neces-Nationalistic diplomacy of all European nations has probably overemphasized the possibilities of war in the public mind.

A number of his advisers told him from the as well as the democrats, had left it acid has something to do with it— likes. nomically, administratively or politically, because there is nothing outstanding he can do about it more than has already been done. The Spanish crisis, therefore, may prove to be more of a handy excuse than a danger.

PREPARATIONS Largest arms purchaser here during July was country of which Americans rarely hear, the Dutch East Indies. Licenses for the export of $1,400,000 of war materials were issued to that Netherlands possession by the State Department. No one here had any previous notion that the Dutch East Indies were getting ready to go to war with anyone. The answer is Britain and the Shell Oil Company. Largest store of oil in the far east is in the Dutch East Indies. Oil is what runs battleships. The Dutch fields are largely under control of the British. In case of trouble in the far east, they would be the center of dispute be-

Fad, Fiction and Folly Change, But Men Like Decency Still

BY ROBERT QUILLEN. This is an old, old theme, but somebody must talk about it once in a while to keep people reminded that human nature hasn't changed—that men still like the kind of women they liked in 1890 and in 1640, and doubtless in 4000 B. C.

What, above all else, does a man demand in his woman? knows the answer. He demands fidelity; he wants her to be his woman and his alone, and he wants to know that she never has belonged to anybody else.

Books and magazines and the movies and the stage present women who have very liberal standards of morality, because that happens to be the fashion of the day. But the world's opinion of a woman who values honor too little hasn't changed at all.

Many thousands of girls think virtue is out-of-date—that they must cultivate loose morals in order to interest men who have the money to 'show them a good time."

To a certain extent that is true. Sleek, soft-handed men of the vulture type do not spend their money on virtue; but these are not marrying men, and the heart-deep desire of every normal girl is the right man and a home. The men who desire wives and homes may spend money to feed and entertain girls whose standards of morality are low, but they don't ask that kind to marry. And the reason is that no man wants as wife woman who may have been everybody's.

You may talk all you wish about single standards of morality and woman's new-found freedom, but the truth is that nothing fundamental has changed or will change. Every decent man wants a woman whose heart is pure and whos The girl who has been handled by every Tom, Dick record is flawless. The girl who has been handled by every Tom, Dick and Harry may think she has outwitted life; but depend upon this: She will make some decent man think she is what she isn't, or she will marry a man who isn't decent, or she will not marry at all.

The world may change from "narrow" to "liberal" and back again. as it has times without number; but this one fact remains unchanged Man wants his own woman unspotted, and he hasn't the slightest respect for the woman who doesn't respect herself.

By Sally Forth.

WHEN Katherine Calhoun's date invited her to go to the movies on Wednesday evening, little did the blond and lovely belle dream that she would never reach her favorite cinema, and would spend the evening at her Pace's Ferry road home. Katherine reckoned without giving thought to the fact that August 19 was her birth-day, and that a surprise party would celebrate the auspicious date. In all of her 18 years Katherine had never had a party to commemorate her natal day, so she played bridge Wednesday morning and that after noon found her still passing the hours away making little and grand slams. In the meantime, all the exciting preparations for the party were being formed at home by Katherine's family and friends, who

Birthday!" from such attractive nembers of the younger set as Rosemary Manry and Seymour Thompson, Beverly Bailey and Phil McDuffie, Elkin Goddard and John Raine, Sarah Horne and Alton Irby, Nell Freeman and John Graham, Dorothy Shivers and George Gantt, Cora Gantt and Doc Dockstater, Henrietta Col-lier and Nick Nicholson, Lucile Willis and Charles Jones, who were laden with attractive gifts

The surprise party started off with a delicious picnic supper served on the picturesque ter-race and the table reflected the pink and white color motif. A birthday cake was embossed in pink and blue roses and trimmed with a bow of pink and blue rib-Eighteen pink candles glowed in pink rosebuds to signify the age of the pretty young celebrant and one more candle was added to the number bring Katherine good luck. Gayly colored balloons, strung around the terrace, added a festive note to the occasion and electric lights gleaming in Japanese lanterns illuminated the beautiful alfresco setting where Katherine and her friends celebrated the arrival of her 18th milestone.

It is unlikely that Katherine's reaction to this wonderfel party will ever be known, for she was in a trance throughout the entire evening. She was so overcome by the complete surprise and the array of her beautiful gifts, the two outstanding being an exquisite diamond ring and a new car. The ring is set in a square platinum setting and the stone is outlined with black enamel to give an artistic and modernistic effect. The priceless gem was willed to Katherine by her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. J. N. Trigg, of Chattanooga, to be presented to Katherine when she was 18 years old. Her automobile is a snappy looking convertible sedan with a canvas top, white spokes in the wheels and a shiny black body.

WHEN the orchestra at Druid VV Hills Club played "The Glory of Love" on Saturday evening a week ago and dedicated it to Mary Elizabeth Cox and Oscar House, the rendition of the song was really an announcement of their engagement. But little did the club members who were present suspect that Betty and The Colonel," as they are better known, were already mar-ried. For Betty became Mrs. House at a ceremony taking place on August 4, and the first announcement of their marriage is published today in The Consti-

Many years ago, Mrs. Alexander started giving her friend a birthday party each year, and the has continued until the present time. For the past six years, however, Mrs. Boyd has been confined to her bed because of illness, so yesterday's affair became a bedside party for the beloved Atlantan.

Only a few members of the family and some of the honor guest's closest friends were invited to attend. The popular At-

DOROTHY LEONARD, of Kingsport, Tenn., showed more than an usual amount of forethought in the wedding pres-ent that she gave Mrs. Robert Reynolds, also of Kingsport, who is the former Rosalind Ware, attractive Atlantan. Dorothy truly "brought home the bacon" for her friend, for when Rosalind returned to her Kingsport home after the honeymoon, she found, to her surprise, that Dorothy had thoughtfully filled the refrigerator with bacon, eggs, milk, butter, preserves and sufficient proons to last the newlyweds for the first few harrowing days of housekeeping. Rosalind visited Dorothy several times before her marriage, and their friendship is of long standing. Rosalind and Bob are very popular additions to the younger social contingent in Kingsport, and Rosalind is finding her first attempt at keeping house quite difficult, but "lots of fun."

The couple left for Florida after the ceremony. They will reside in Decatur. The bride is a teacher in the Atlanta public school system.

Friendly Counsel By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield:
After 16 years of happy married life my husband started on a downward path that resulted in his ordering me to leave the house. I had ing me to leave the house. I had lived in Hades long enough to be glad that he settled the matter for me suddenly. One night he came in after midnight, was very abusive, raged like a maniac and literally drove me and the children out. I had done my and the children out. I had done my utmost to save our home, mainly because I loved him. I left town, took rooms for me and the children, got work and set about to take care of them as well as my slender purse would allow. He discovered our them had been the letters because the same and the letters because the letters because the same and the letters because the same and the letters because the letters are letters because the letters because the letters because the letters are letters because the letters are letters and the letters because the letters are letters and the letters are letters and the letters are letters and the letters are letters are letters are letters are letters and the letters are letters are letters are letters are letters and the letters are letters are letters are letters are letters are letters are letters and letters are letters

Answer: Any woman would sympathize with you in your desire to keep your children separated from their father. Any woman could understand the bitterness you feel for a man who drove you and the helpless little ones from your home in the middle of the night and sent you out to starve with them or work and support them. But vindictiveness never pays, even when it appears to be most justifiable. You once loved the man and these are his children. They feel the embarrassment of the separation and it will be good for them to have their father come to see them, and express an interest in them, even if he doesn't say it with support. It is always possible that children may be the means of reforming a rascally man and though you may not take him back you would surely like to see him restored to decency and respectability.

JUDGE SAM SCOTT DIES;

JURIST BORN IN GEORGIA

WACO, Texas. Aug. 20.—(P)—Judge Sam R. Scott, of the nine-th district court, died here early today after an illness of several weeks.

The jurist was born in Georgia and came to Falls county, Texas, at an early age. In 1893 he was appointed by Governor James Hogg to the new-lay created fifty-fourth district court, embracing Falls and McLennan counties.

South should have bid one heart over one diamond rather than jump to three no trump.

West opened the five of spades, dummy played the ten, East covered with the Queen, and the hand was over! East had nothing to gain, everything to lose by nutting up his Queen. Dummy had no entry outside the spade suit. Whether or not declarer had the spade King, East should have played low to the first lead. If West had the King, Queen play would neither lose nor win since it would establish a second round finesse. But if declarer had the King, the Queen play would set up three spade tricks, whereas a duck would give declarer only two.

What Puzzles You?

When your joungster asks you whether a long screwdriver is more powerful than a short one; or whether the top of a wheel moves faster than the bottom; or why things float in water; or why a ball bounces; or whether the piston in your automobile stops at the top of its stroke before going downward—can you answer? Our Service Bureau at Washington has a new and intensely interesting booklet, POPULAR SCIENCE QUESTIONS ANSWERED, in which there are included clearly written, scientifically accurate explanations of seventy-five puzzling but commonly discussed questions of this kind. You will find it a mine of information on many questions that have puzzled you. Send the coupon below for your copy:

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Wednesday. - Someone was talking to me a little while ago about the art projects and remarked that great artists were developed only by starving-that Van Gogh would never have been Van Gogh unless he had starved most of his life.

Perhaps, but this morning I had a pathetic letter from a young man begging for a job on the music project and for a chance to have his composition orchestrated. It set me to wondering whether this theory is really correct. Our greatest works of art, it seems to me, were produced under the patronage of the great nobles of the past. Florence's greatest period, from the artistic standpoint, was certainly under the patronage of the rich men of the day. I somewhat question whether an empty stomach does not retard inspiration. Perhaps we are awakening to the realization that if individuals can no longer patronize the arts in the way they did in the old days, we may come to a time when the public may undertake to do this its own pleasure and profit.

We spent a long time over our breakfast coffee cups this morning, for Donald Stephens and Francis Goodale are interesting men to talk to. We were sorry when they finally started on their way to Nantucket.

Before I left the house to retreat to the cottage, the usual stream of visitors had begun. Never less than three people were sitting on the front steps waiting to see the President.

After I went to bed last night I started marking my mail, but I always end up by allowing myself time to read something I really enjoy. For an hour I found myself deeply engrossed with the trials which the women who lived in Georgia during the Civil War suffered.

"Gone With the Wind" is a book you would like to read straight through, but since there are so many things which have to be done, I am reading it rather more slowly, and perhaps enjoying it all the more

If you have not read it, I can assure you will find Scarlett O'Hara an interesting character. For pure selfishness and ruthlessness she seems to be almost incredible. But circumstances mould even the little animal she seems to be. So far, the remark of old Granny Fontaine, that one should always keep something to fear and something to love in this world, is perhaps, the wisest piece of psychology in the book.

I have seen the trunk of a tree with a pitch-fork driven into it to a depth of at least six inches—by the power of the wind. In one tornado a chicken coop was carried four miles, and in another a part of a church steeple fell to the ground after a journey of 17 miles. Most storms, I am glad to say, are not tornadoes. The sky darkens, the wind blows at a merry rate, and rain comes down in a heavy pour. That is enough of a storm for most of us. A fall of one inch is a very heavy rain. Olden Norsemen said thunder was made by the god Thor, when he hurled his hammer through the sky. They also had a tale telling how Thor lost his hammer, and this was used to explain why they did not hear thunder during the winter months. Once in a while, however, there is thunder in cold weather. When this happens, it is usually at night.

'Twas pretty warmish around our town yesterday. The best people were mopping their brows and hunting up the chilled spots for something chill to drink. It was warmish. But the most warmish weather I recall was at Lake Geauga, some 20 miles out from Cleveland, when the late W. L. Stribling was training for the fight with Max Schmeling. And that was 1930. The years do get along. It was so hot in Ohio that summer that the boards of the thin little cottages about the lake shrunk up and cracked.

And W. L. Stribling chose one of the hottest days to do one of his most amazing stunts.

The Schmeling camp was 90 miles away on Conneaut lake, a largish lake in Pennsylvania. I was there that day. Only a handful of the good Pennsylvania people came to see the workout. The smell of the lake was hot and fishy.

We sat panting on the board seats watching Max Schmeling take some exercises. Off somewhere in the sky a plane hummed. It came suddenly nearer. It began to dive close to the trees above the ring where the German worked.

'What is that pilot trying to do, commit suicide?" asked someone.

The plane climbed high and dived again. A man came running over from the Schmeling cottage.
"They called up from Geauga and said that was W. L

Stribling in that plane," he said. We all shook negative heads. And then the plane dived and cut out the motor and we heard someone yell,

"Hi, Max," and the motor caught and the plane went on. He flew to the lake and scared fishermen out of their wits by diving to the lake and running the wheels of the land plane on the water.

And then up and gone. It was frightfully hot that day. And the night was

THE HOTTEST FOOTBALL DAYS.

Two days stand out in my mind as the hottest football days in the heated history of the game.

One was that October 12, 1929, when Yale came to Georgia, to play in heavy woolen jersevs and ribbed woolen socks. Those things were all right for the ice of New Haven. But that blistering day at Athens they took a lot out of the Yales. And a lot of pounds off them, too. It was steaming hot that day and the great crowd literally baked on the curving concrete stadium. The other was an October day in Dallas in 1925 when Vanderbilt was playing at Dallas, Texas. It was just as hot as that day at Athens, maybe hotter. It seems so in my memory. The Commodore team lost pounds and pounds that day.

They were both too hot for football. But both games were most spectacular. Georgia won, 15 to 0, that day and the Commodores won their steam-heated game from Texas, 14 to 6.

Stanislaus, The Elder, always was a great favorite. He went back to Poland during the World War and helped out financially. There was a fantastic story about him being captured by the bolsheviks, and being forced to wrestle for his life.

He came back to this country weighing 350 pounds and trained down to 260. He was a curious chunk of a man. I Dean chalked up his 21st victory by holding the Reds to seven hits and drove in one of the three runs the Cards shoved across in the ninth-in-the Farmer, Charley Hansen, entered Nashville under an assumed name and made a local reputation. He was matched with the old man and they went at it carefully. They wrestled for three hours and were on the mat but one time. It was terrible to watch but it was a magnificent exhibition on the part of the old man. They were trying to take his title that night.

Wladek used to be around. But he lacked the old man's color and ability. We used to think he never liked the going very rough. And those who knew the younger Zbyszko could

The Cards finally tied it up in the seventh with a run on consecutive singles by Martin, Ducky Medwick and Johnny Mize, driving Hollingsworth off the mound.

The Reds pushed another run over in the last of the eighth, when Harrey Walker's two-bagger scored Frey, who had replaced Hollingsworth.

Martin, first up in the ninth, singled, and Medwick doubled to bring him home. Mize was passed and Leo Durocher singled to send Medwick across. Mize also counted when Dean hit safely with two out.

The Privates spotted the Chicago Cubs seven runs in the first two into meet Joe Louis.

> THE FIGHT PRINCIPALS. Just what has the fight game come to, anyhow? Max Schmeling is married these many years and should be out of a rough, brawling game. Jimmy Braddock is the father of three children and holds the championship at an age when most champions have had it

Only Joe Louis is young. And he is reported growing lazy and fat with the fat living. Usually that happens to champions. But Louis made championship money without the title.

There isn't a young challenger to joust with the two contenders, Schmeling and Louis. And the champion won't fight.

IN FIRST GAME

Hooks Miscues in 16th Inning, Allowing Pebs To Win.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 20 .-Il Williams' four-hit pitching enabled the Atlanta Crackers to break even in double-header with the Little Rock Cravelers here tonight after the Pebes had gone 16 innings to win the pener, 4-3. The Atlantans took the ond, 3-0.

The Crackers started with a run in the first. Hamel dropped a Texas leaguer in right, Mailho flied and Hooks walked. Sharpe fanned Lips-comb but Richards singled, scoring Hamel.

The Travelers tied it up when Andrus walked. Deal beat out a hit to Durham, Malay forced Deal, Head singled scoring Andrus. Sharpe popped and Malay was thrown out at the plate on an attempted double steal.

CRACKERS LEAD.
The Crackers went ahead a run

RASIEBATTE F.D.R. SUGGESTS STUDY News of Gate City CITY MANAGER PLAN

Relief Needs.

HYDE PARK, Aug. 20.—(P)—A post-election conference of farm organizations to study an effective approach to the problems of crop insurance and rural credit was suggested by President Roosevelt today as he continued to survey drouth relief needs.

Crop insurance and rural credit are two of the key items of the legislative program of the National Grange, and Louis J. Taber, master of the Grange, said they had been emphasized, along with drouth problems, in an hour's conference with the President and Secretary Wallace.

conference with the President and Secretary Wallace.

"The President and Wallace," Taber told the reporters afterwards, "suggested it might be a good idea to call a conference of farm organizations and other interested parties after the election to consider an intelligent approach to both these problems, crop insurance and rural credit

Wallace, who is expected to accompany Mr. Roosevelt on a trip to the drouth-parched midwest starting Tuesday night from Washington, conferred with the President privately about drouth conditions, but had nothing to say afterward.

The itinerary for the drouth-state

Mr. Roosevelt planned to enter personally into the campaign for his reelection before starting for the Dakotas. James A. Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee, was expected at the President's home here tomorrow or Saturay. The chief executive has described the drouth trip, however, as entirely non-political. Taber asserted that "crop insurance would be better for agriculture and whe consumer than present methods the consumer than present methods of seed loans, work relief and similar methods" of helping farmers hit by drouth or other disaster. But he conceded it would take considerable

"The President gave assurance that the administration was studying something sound in this regard."

Cost Would Be Lower.

The Grange, Taber said, is advocating a crop insurance program carried out through federal-state co-operation at a cost of around $25,000,000 a year.

The cost would be much lower than for the present method of drouth relief, he said.

Buying in sufficient volume to offset light hedge selling appeared in the cotton market today and options gained 7 points in quiet realizing.

After a steady opening the market sold off when brokers who ordinarily operate for foreign account offered cotton in sizeable blocks. The market lost around 20 cents a bale on the day, but in late trading recovered this and added a few points.

large commission house issued a A large commission house issued a mid-August crop estimate of 11,812,000 bales. This induced considerable short covering and, when combined with the price-fixing orders in the market, lifted prices.

October closed at New Orleans at 11.59, December at 11.83, January at 11.64 bid and March at 11.72. Middling spot was unchanged at 11.93 cents a pound.

Reports of heavy crop deterioration

Reports of heavy crop deterioration in Oklahoma, northern Texas and parts of Arkansas has resulted in crop commentators revising their figures lower. This factor also tended to keep short offerings to the minimum. Coming on the heels of the report by the bureau of agricultural economics that Japan had decreased its purchases of cotton from America, the Central American order was considered significant.

COTTON PRICES UP ON N. Y. EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(P)—A further decline today in cotton during early trading was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering. The buying, attributed to unfavorable weather and crop advices, carried December up from 11.54 and 11.70. The position closed at 11.68 with the general market steady at net advances of 6 to 11 points.

eral market steady at net advances of 6 to 11 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points. A fair overnight demand was supplied at about the initial prices and the market later eased under renewed liquidation. The decline into sew ground for the movement uncovered some stop orders and sent the price of October off to 11.49 and March to 11.61 or about 6 to 9 points net lower.

Offerings then tapered off and prices rallied on the reports of continued dry hot weather in the southwest and talk of reduced crop estimates. Active months sold 7 to 11 points net higher and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best. 29 EastCubSug 7;s 37

Coppers were still under the cloud of a possible jump in production as a means of maintaining the present domestic price at the 93-4-cent-a-pound level. Notwithstanding the backward tendencies of the steels, the outlook for this industry was till viewed as highly favorable. It was reported structural steel mills were operating practically at capacity in order to meet rush demands for delivery. News on the rails was more bullish than otherwise.

HUMAN RIDDLES

That Have Vexed the World

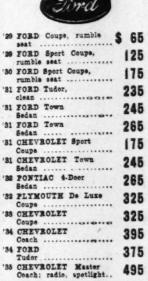

By VINCENT TOWNE

Aaron Burr was the most dramatic figure in American history. Although small of stature, he possessed a magnetism and fascination which both men and women found irresistible. He was endowed with the finest gifts of nature and of fortune, a dauntless resolution and cool self-possession that made him a forceful character in whatever enterprise he elected to embark. He was the son of the president of Princeton College and grandson of the eminent Jonathan Edwards. At 16 he was a graduate of Princeton, and at 19 performed in the Revolutionary War acts of bravery for which he was rewarded with the rank of major. At 35 he was United States senator from New York. At 45 he was vice president of the United States, while holding which office he killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel, an event which blasted his political prospects.

For more than a century our school children have been taught to believe that Aaron Burr was the incarnation of treachery and intrigue. According to popular history Burr, after retiring from the vice presidency, embarked to the head. A more serious charge degainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the far western states away from the Union and amalgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the Cannada analgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the Cannada analgainst him was that he hoped also to seduce certain of the Union and amalgai

VICTIM?

Aaron Burr was the most dramatic of treachery and intrigue. According to drive his oner rival out of politics, popular history Burr, after retiring from the vice presidency, embarked upon certain mysterious western enterprises, it being suspected that he purposed to collect a body of followers and, after conquering Texas and Meximum and, after conquering Texas and Meximum and, after conquering Texas and Meximum and the service of the servic James Wilkinson, whom Jefferson used to betray Burr, was without doubt an unserupulous adventurer who, after serving his apprenticeship under Benedict Arnold, had been a paid spy of Spain, although serving in command of our army upon the Burr's champions have maintained that the real provocation for Jeffer-son's systematic persecution was the in their possession depositions detailing an intrigue with the federalists by which he (Jefferson) had secured the election against Burr.

Whatever their motives, the proceedings taken thereafter against Burr were, to say the least, remarkable. By what is believed to have been Jeffer-son's orders, General Wilkinson terrorized the people of New Orleans into the belief that Burr, with an army, was on his way to capture the city, rob the banks, plunder the people. steal nearly everything belonging to them and seize all of the shipping in the port.

Martial law was proclaimed, mass meetings were held, volunteer comments and parties repanies formed and a general panic re-sulted. Business came to a standstill. Then sensible men obtained court action against the high-handedness of Wilkinson, but he defied the court and was attached for contempt. But the court found itself powerless to enforce the law and, in disgust, the judge resigned. John Randolph, of Roanoke, denouncing Wilkinson, said that he bad \"out-Heroded Herod."

When apprehended hundreds of miles above New Orleans, Burr's par-ty consisted of 60 men unarmed save ty consisted or 60 men unarmed save with farm implements—an expedition scarcely calculated to capture New Orleans with its garrison of 1,000 regulars. He was arrested, but the grand jury, after finding that he had neither committed nor contemplated any unlawful act, censured the authorities for his except. Varantheless thorities for his arrest. Nevertheless thorities for his arrest. Nevertheless he was rearrested and carried hundreds of miles from the scene of his alleged crime, and before he was even indicted his entire property had been confiscated, reducing him to utter poverty. Henry Clay, who acted as his attorney during these preliminaries, where wrote: "Such was our conviction of the in-nocence of the accused that when he sent us a considerable fee we resolved to decline accepting it and accordingly returned it."

It has been claimed that Alexander Hamilton, Rufus King and General Knox were originally in favor of Burr's purpose to liberate Latin Amer-ica. And it has been held that Burr's posed conquest of Mexico would have been, in principle, precisely the same as what Sam Houston did in winning the independence of Texas.
On hearing of Houston's feat, Burr, in great excitement, turned to a friend, exclaiming:

"There! You see, I was right: I was only 30 years too soon! What was reason in me 30 years ago is patriotism now!"

CAMPUS STYLES CHANGE IN HATS AND FOOTWEAR

GOING AWAY TO SCHOOL-II. By ROBERT FAIRCHILD.

Wardrobe—Button-Down Collar Leads.

His hats have always been a point of honor with the college man, so in his going-away-to-school wardrobe his choice of headgear is a matter of especial interest. The hat is, of course, a snap-brim, in brown—but the styles have shifted since last fall, and now undergraduate preferences telean to the hat with lower crown, wider brim, and medium shade of brown. Formerly silk-bound edges had all the run of it in university hats, but welted edges are now the favorites.

Other hats the wardrobe should include are, of course, the opera hat and the high silk hat, for wear with the tailcoat or the dinner jacket. Men who like a touch of formality in their attire will also include a homburg, in the right tapering-crown, curled-brim effect.
